Rupert Police Officer Carl DeMey said the mishap occurred as Seaman drove his car "apparently at a high rate of speed" on the McCool Road near the McCool subdivision here. This 1950 Oldsmobile failed to negotiate a curve and went off the road, plowing through trees and fence line into the front of a dwelling.

The vehicle overturned, hurling Mr. Seaman into the fence where a tree had splintered wood puncturing his lung.

DeMey said the injured man was rushed to the Rupert hospital. He died at 3:30 a.m.

The investigating officer reported skidmarks 75 feet long at the curve on the gravelled street.

England Prepares For Suez Parleys

LONDON, Aug. 13 (UPI)—Plane loads of British troops streaming out of Britain for the Mediterranean crossed paths today with the inbound flow of world diplomats who will seek a peaceful solution to the Suez canal crisis at the London conference opening Thursday.

The conference, originally scheduled with 24 nations in attendance, has been reduced to 22 by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's rejection of the invitation by a similar refusal by Greece.

Hundreds of British troops left Britain and went to the biggest airfield since the Berlin blockade. It was also disclosed in Bonn that Britain has begun to pull its troops out of Germany and to West Germany, where it was held here today on the first anniversary of the blockade.

Attendance began to pick up as the oratory continued but the first session was largely devoid of newsmen, diplomats and others when Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee delivered the keynote address.

Stevenson and Harriman were in early in search of delegates who might be swayed to their side. The day's first report of a shift in the 22-man Pennsylvania delegation.

2 Top Candidates Vie For Idaho's 12 Votes

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (UPI)—Adlai E. Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman fought a nip-and-tuck battle today for Idaho's 12 votes at the Democratic convention.

Two members of the state delegation said Harriman held a "slight edge—as of now." But they would not say flatly that he was in front of Stevenson when the first ballot was cast.

The state is to vote by unit rule—meaning that all 12 of its ballots will go to the candidate who wins a majority of support within the delegation. But there was an outside chance that the votes would be split, 6 to 6, between the two contenders on the first ballot.

The state is to vote by unit rule—meaning that the delegation, said the 24 delegates who control their 12 votes "individually" if they are split down the middle.

"Right now," he said, "it is almost fully clear with Harriman in front, perhaps a slight edge." Stevenson was not available to comment.

"There are two other candidates who are not in the division," said Harriman, "but I don't know if they are in the running." He added, "I don't know if they are in the running."

He did not reply to a question that he did not think former President Truman had a good chance.

"I am not sure he is in the running," he said, "but I don't know if he is in the running."

Harry Wall, national and Harriman's demonstration agent, and Martin McShane, state assistant, helped Stevenson. Lemmon, who helped the delegation, said the 24 delegates who control their 12 votes "individually" if they are split down the middle.

"Right now," he said, "it is almost fully clear with Harriman in front, perhaps a slight edge." Stevenson was not available to comment.

"There are two other candidates who are not in the division," said Harriman, "but I don't know if they are in the running."

He did not reply to a question that he did not think former President Truman had a good chance.

"I am not sure he is in the running," he said, "but I don't know if he is in the running."

Three members of the West End 4-H club placed one, two and three in the competition. The champion was first; David Wilson, second; and Charles Willard third. The club is led by Joseph Morrison and Ralph Vaughan.

A member of the delegation, who did not want to be named, said the breakdown: Twelve delegates with six votes are bucking cattle, with five votes are for cattle, and the remaining two are uncommitted.

This member said Harriman's support is "fairly solid," and Stevenson may crumble and pull up behind him.

The group agreed that the union should be allowed a similar amount time to talk. Stevenson, who has addressed the division three weeks ago, said he would support the union if it can't pick up one of the uncommitted delegates.

Bandini said the delegation won't take a formal vote until a caucus Wednesday morning.

In his latest ruling, Judge Beckwith gave Jewish 4-H clubs 10 days in which to file a reply to the supplemental order.

NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES

115 Market Street, San Francisco, Calif.

PRESIDENT'S PERSONALITY

The 1,323 delegates to the Republican national convention will have a fine time making GOP whoopee at San Francisco, but everyone thinks he knows what the result will be.

The platform which the Republicans will adopt this year makes less difference than usual. If they wanted to write the platform usual, they could print the one word "IKE" in big block letters and that would be it. For what they're running on is a personality.

Even the one fly in the Republican elephant's trunk is a matter of personality, not issues. This is the slight irritation scratched up by Harold E. Stassen's opposition to the renomination of Vice-President Nixon. It centers more on Nixon's personality than what he stands for, however.

Most of the Republican leaders and convention delegates who support Eisenhower and Nixon so enthusiastically do not hold the same ideas which the President has put forward in his foreign and domestic programs.

Negatively, they may endorse his policies because they believe them less objectionable than those that would be put forward by, say Adlai Stevenson or Averell Harriman.

But positively, Republicans who do not agree with the Eisenhower program are willing to follow his lead. They want him to win.

It is not easy to sum up this Eisenhower personality that attracts so many people, though he is not a complex character. He is fundamentally a decent guy. He speaks no evil of any man publicly, even in answering attacks made on him by others in and out of his own party.

He speaks constantly of his own concern for the welfare of all the American people, and no one doubts his sincerity.

He is obviously and convincingly trying to do a good job. The whole country, by and large, is enjoying relative peace, which contributes naturally to the belief that he is doing a good job.

He has been able to hold himself aloof from many of the justifiable criticisms that have been leveled against his administration. The brickbats thrown at his departed subordinates—like ex-Secretary of the Air Force Harold Talbott, and ex-Sen. Harry P. Cain—have not bounced off to hit the President. Cain, head of the administration, the responsibility for their activities may be his. But by staying out of the controversy that raged about them, he is not held responsible.

In his relations with congress, President Eisenhower's success has been something short of great or even good. In four years he has obtained only about half of his program.

The blame can be placed about equally on Democrats and Republicans who have blocked or altered his proposals. In spite of this opposition, the President has the wholesome respect of practically all congressmen.

Even the president's health record borders on the miraculous. An ordinary man of his age having both a heart attack and ileitis operation in eight months would be rated as ready for retirement. But not Eisenhower.

Though it is admitted that Eisenhower has not been a full-time President in this period, he has bounced back with a prognosis of being able to beat up in this toughest job in the world for another four years that are bound to be strenuous.

What this composite presents is a personality symbol that could become almost legendary. It is a political phenomenon that is hard to beat. Only a total collapse, apparently, can ever count him out.

TWO COMPLAINTS

Now that Winston Churchill has retired, Australian Prime Minister Ben Chifley, and Manzies, who has been in Washington, is rated by many as the ablest orator among statesmen in the British Commonwealth of Nations. He's sometimes called "the poor man's Churchill."

Like Churchill, he's a real professional politician, can duck a fast question, can turn a neat phrase, has a marvelous sense of humor and likes to quote Shakespeare. He's a great friend of the U.S. to boot.

On Australian-American relations, Prime Minister Manzies has only two faults to find: American soldiers stationed in Australia during the war married so many Aussie girls there's a shortage of women there. And the Americans drup so much Australian beer that it's still in short supply and there's none for export.

ONE OF BEST MOVES

Advocates of bigger and better harmony for the forthcoming Democratic national convention at Chicago point out that one of the best moves the southern wing of the party could make would be to unite behind a southern Democrat who would be acceptable to the North as a vice presidential candidate. Gov. George Bell Timmerman, Jr., of South Carolina, who is now front man for the Dixiecrats, is not considered acceptable to the North.

So far, the only two Northern Democrats who have said they'd take the vice presidency are Sens. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and John Kennedy of Massachusetts. Neither is acceptable to the South.

A writer says men do all things better than women. He should try to kiss a man.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—With Adlai E. Stevenson assured of the Democratic presidential nomination, the 1956 Alaskans will face a hard choice in selection of a running mate in a year when the voters may give more attention to the presidential election than ever before. They must decide whether to try to capture the farm states or to retain the support of the South by retaining the Southern and border electors' vote.

Sen. Tucker's statement favoring integration in a civil rights plank could, probably, not upset the southern picture. It is felt that the Republican will be even stronger on this issue.

Here is their present dilemma: at the moment, the South and border states would give them the electoral balloons necessary to elect a liberal, a coalition of the Dixiecrats and the Republicans.

In short, although they surrender in advance to the GOP, they must decide whether to direct their principal appeal to the rural urban population. It is generally conceded that Stevenson and President Eisenhower are weaker among the farmers than elsewhere.

STEVENSON'S STRENGTH WITH CITY BOBBIES

The Democrats are strong in the cities, especially the Chicago lawyer. He did not carry a single farm state in 1952. He virtually bypassed them in his primary campaigning. He was defeated badly by Sen. Estes Kefauver in the urban areas, but he strength of the city with the city bosses and their allies.

Stevenson just does not appeal to farmers, according to all soundings of sentiment. His speeches and mannerisms are not popular with the people in the mind of the city slicker type. He does not impress them as a warm, sympathetic, down-to-earth being. He does not "talk our language."

The Stevenson campaign may be able to overcome these handicaps, but there remains doubt in the politicians' minds.

REFUVEAR, HARRIMAN POPULAR IN FARM

ARAPAHO—Strangely, Senator Kefauver and Gov. Avery Harlan appear to be more popular than the President and the crooked ones. Both, of course, have been more liberal in their policies than the moderate Stevenson dared to offer. Their ability to deliver give them a human appeal.

Sen. Harriman may be able to overcome these handicaps, but there remains doubt in the politicians' minds.

REFUVEAR, HARRIMAN POPULAR IN FARM

ARAPAHO—Strangely, Senator Kefauver and Gov. Avery Harlan appear to be more popular than the President and the crooked ones. Both, of course, have been more liberal in their policies than the moderate Stevenson dared to offer. Their ability to deliver give them a human appeal.

Arizona Will Sum up Case In River Tiff

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—The historic and complex suit over rights to Colorado river water resumes today after a two-year delay. Arizona's case virtually completed.

Arizona, who is seeking clear title to 3,600,000 acre-feet of water in the river, has already reached three litigations for cross-examination. It will have a chance to ask additional questions on direct ramifications of the case when it resumes.

The men are three water engineers whose work will be used by Arizona to determine the status of the continental consumptive use of water and virgin flow of the Colorado river.

Ralph L. Meeker, 60-year-old Portland engineer, will probably be the first to be recalled to the stand. He will be followed by engineer R. P. Dugay, and consultant engineer.

California, the defendant in this case, will take at least a week in cross-examination of the three men.

Other parties to the complex suit are the states of Nevada, New Mexico and Utah, and the United States government.

The case arises out of the amount of water each state should get under the terms of the Colorado River compact of 1922. The river, which is the source of water for contracts and the California limitations act of 1928—all of which comprise what is commonly called the "law of the river."

There is presently not enough water in the lower basin of the Colorado River to supply the demands of all the parties to the compact.

The hearing is an original action brought before the U. S. supreme court and is before Associate Justice Supreme Court Justice William H. Rutledge appointed by the high court as special master.

Eating Fat Is Cited as Help On Reducing

LODGE, Aug. 13—Up-to-date

That's a possibility suggested by Dr. Alan Karkwick, professor of nutrition at the University of Idaho. He says increasing the diet's fat content may reduce weight even more effectively than a mere cut in calories.

Karkwick ran three series of tests at London's Middlesex hospital. All of his subjects were more than 22 per cent overweight, but were within acceptable standards.

The first series used a fixed diet of 20 per cent protein, 35 per cent fat and 47 per cent carbohydrates. The subjects were kept on a daily intake of 2,000 calories; then 1,600 and finally 1,000 calories.

The total of 203,245 in construction last month put Twin Falls 12 per cent above the June figure and 16 per cent above the May figure.

In the 47 largest cities in the Pacific Northwest, total construction was up 10 per cent over July 1955, but down 12 per cent over June.

The cities listed 6,730 permits, four per cent more than last year.

Total construction in Idaho was up about $300,000 from the $1,993,177 of June.

Southcentral Idaho Tungsten Deposits Are Listed in Report

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Aug. 13.—A study of tungsten deposits in southcentral Idaho was released today by the bureau of mines and geology at the University of Idaho, Dr. J. D. Forrester, director of the bureau, announced.

The report, which includes maps of many tungsten deposits, is available to prospectors and miners, Dr. Forrester said.

The information was prepared by Dr. Earl P. Cook, associate professor and head of the University of Idaho department of geology and geophysics.

The majority of deposits examined by Dr. Cook were in Blaine, Custer and Valley counties, Dr. Forrester said.

The report discusses mines which are currently operating in the southcentral tungsten belt and the prospect of future tungsten mining in the southcentral belt.

Largest of the mines covered in the report is the Yellow Pine, now closed, which is located near Sibley, Valley County. From 1943 to 1946 it was the largest source of tungsten in the United States and yielded 53,000 tons of tungsten.

Copies of the report are available at $1.25 each by writing the Idaho bureau of mines, University of Idaho, Moscow.

Building Increase Of T. F. Last July Is Report Feature

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—California boosted in the state's annual construction convention delegates presented a favorable job here today.

Twin Falls was the only major city in Idaho showing an increase in building during July over the same month in 1955.

The total of 203,245 in construction last month put Twin Falls 12 per cent above the June figure and 16 per cent above the May figure.

In the 47 largest cities in the Pacific Northwest, total construction was up 10 per cent over July 1955, but down 12 per cent over June.

Need for Dentist Training Is Cited

McGRAW, Aug. 13—The Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education says the western states should start training four times as many dentists as they are now doing.

They should turn out 1,600 dentists per year between 1960 and 1978, the commission said in a report yesterday.

It said the composition of the diet appeared to outweigh the importance of calorie intake.

The results of the subgrouped subjects with and without protein, they could maintain their weight on 2,000 calories a day with normal diet, Dr. Karkwick noted. Those with high protein diets had to eat more to have a weight increase, but changed the diet content in protein and fat.

On high fat and on high protein diets, all but one subject lost weight.

FROM ALL ANGLES

By KEBBY KERSCHELL

Victories when the chips are down have kept the Twin Valley Cowboys in the race for the pack so far in the Pioneer League pennant race. And if anybody is going to catch them, their move will have to make it well.

But the Cowboys have had the worst of the terrible pressure of a skin-tight race and many of them are getting tired.

During the last month, the team has been on the road, playing just about as hard as the other team. The Wranglers have rallied enough of the pack to hold their edge, but the Cowboys have had to play doubleheaders on three consecutive days, but they didn't go to pieces.

In fact, they came back with three straight wins and returned what might have been a disastrous road trip with a lead that they can't let go.

And, my friends, is the mark of a team that deserves to win a championship.

Manager Bill Raimondi simply doesn't have enough players on the roster to do much juggling with the team. But it's a good enough team to make it through the season and get a little more than its share.

The spotlight usually falls on the Cowboy batters because they can blast a game open.

But the Wranglers have had some of the finest, deepest pitching we have ever seen during the course of a season.

Gene Dupree and John Bushard, the big guns of the pitching staff and Paul Martin, one of the most effective, if not one of the strongest, catchers in the league, are the "big guns" of the team.

John Goets has come along beautifully in the last year and is one of the bright spots of the team.

He's got a couple of "ouch" luck" defeats during the week, but he's due to pick up a victory or two against either in relief or in a spot start.

Bob Shaffer, who got off to a fast start this season after a great record last year and then hit a slight tempo, is due to come along and could get off once again and could prove to be the key to the Cowboys' streak drive.

With a team like we have this year, I don't see how any baseball fan in Magic Valley can stay away from the ballpark.

U.S. Chances Appear Good For Swimming

DETROIT, Aug. 13 (UPI)—American swimmers upped their record last year, the new young Olympic swimmers and diving team today and predicted Uncle Sam's team at least as good as the 1952 team did at Atlanta.

That's not an easy chore, for the team of 16-year-olds and 17-year-olds, eight gold medals, 16 men 20 and outstanding swimmers have been developed since in Australia, United and Japan to match new-comers.

Major reason for the general optimism expressed here following the high cost of the team financially and competitively, four years ago, the depth and balance of the squad of 21 men and 18 women.

The team, swimming 187 years, in particular, are very strong, with the 32 representatives, including the 32 representatives, who won two gold medals, 16 men 20 and outstanding swimmers have been developed since in Australia, United and Japan to match new-comers.

The men who average 22 years, are led by two world record holders, Mark George Green in the 100-meter freestyle and George York, Northampton, Mass., in the 20-meter butterfly, and a pair of swimmers divers, Gary Tobian, Los Angeles, in the platform, and Dan Harper, Palm Jaffa, in the springboard.
